Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

The Camp Beale demand for housing may pull Nevada City out of doldrums. Last week, according to Secretary H. F. Sofge of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce, homes in this city were found for the families of ten officers of the camp. This week the commerce secretary is planning placing advertisements listing vacant houses in the Marysville Appeal-Democrat. He is also supplying the National Housing Administration headquarters in San Francisco with a complete list of rentable houses here, and the same list is being sent to Mrs. P. M. Martin, hostess at Camp Beale, who asked for it, stressing the urgency of the housing situation for a large proportion of the young officers there who must have homes nearby for their families.

Two Sacramento families drove into Nevada City last week and purchased supplies of coffee. It was stated that coffee was no longer obtainable in the state capital. Nevada City has not invented a better mousetrap, but we do have vacant houses and big flower gardens, with room for victory vegetables, and our grocers have been foresighted and have laid in abundant supplies of coffee. So the world is beating a path to our door in the Sierras.

There are still 28 houses in Nevada City for rent, most of them furnished, according to Secretary Sofge. This is the list he has sent to San Francisco and is advertising in Marysville. That city has been besieged by army men in search of houses, and is reported to have filled up every vacancy, even the shacks. Stories of greedy dealings with soldiers and officers are beginning to leak out. Even hamburger vendors, it is reported have hiked their prices to a point where the ceiling no longer rules, but the sky is the limit. Resentment at the cupidity of landlords also finds expression. There is always danger of this under such abnormal conditions as rule in the vicinity of a great army or naval school or camp. The greedy decide that war or no war, they will line their own nest, and the result is that they befoul the community nest. A few exceptions will smash the rule of fair dealing. A few conscienceless individuals are able to discredit a large city. It is to be hoped that all merchants and residents of Nevada City will avoid every temptation to overreach in their dealings with these men who are enrolled in the armed forces to fight for us.

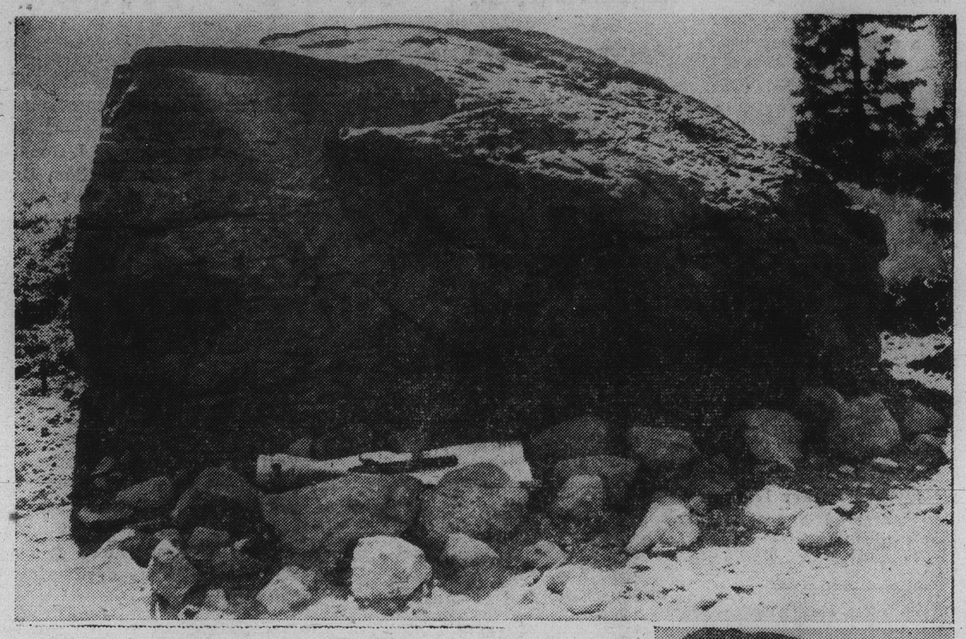
As matters stand today an influx of population can save Nevada City from the declines it suffered in 1918-1924. Camp Beale, even when the war is won is quite likely to be maintained when other camps are closed down, for the reason that it is one of few triangular plane-tank-artillery training grounds in the United States. Army engineers are especially impressed with its wide variety of terrain for practice in all three units of a mechanized division. So, even after the war is over, this city if it maintains a reputation for fair dealing, may continue, perhaps for years, to reap a harvest of good will from the army personnel whose families are seeking homes here.

WILFORD JOYAL, PILOT, ENROUTE TO FIGHTING FRONT

SAN ANTONIO AVIATION CADET CENTER, TEX., Nov. 12. —(Special)—With round trip tickets to battle areas already tucked away in their pockets, future aircrew pilots left the San Antonio Aviation cadet center pre-flight school this week or primary flying schools.

Among members of a delegation of 168 aviation cadets from California, one man from Nevada City was included. He was Wilfred N. Joyal, of Park Avenue.

Where Death Stalked Traveler



The discovery by Leslie Land of Nevada City, construction superintendent for the Tahoe National Forest, of the rusted remains of an early day type pistol is believed to be evidence of a tragedy of the trail of the gold rush days. The top view shows the pistol where it was found in what appears to have been a rock barricade. (The weapon was placed upon a newspaper for photographic purposes.)

The wooden stock had rotted away but the barrel and remainder of the mechanism were intact except for rust. The pistol was fully loaded.

Tobiassen Elected Sheriff; P.G. Scadden New Assessor

CARL J. TOBIASSEN OF NEVADA CITY WAS ELECTED SHERIFF AND PHIL G. SCADDEN, ALSO OF THIS CITY, WAS ELECTED ASSESSOR OF NEVADA COUNTY ON THE BASIS OF THE COMPLETE COUNT OF THE GENERAL ELECTION AND ABSENT BALLOT VOTE.

THE NEVADA COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS COMPLETED THE COUNT OF THE ABSENT BALLOTS LAST NIGHT.

Sheriff Tobiassen gained 39 votes on his opponent. Richard Hoskins of Grass Valley in the absent vote count, stretching his lead to 171 votes in the total tally. The absentee vote for Tobiassen was 370. For Hoskins, 331. Tobiassen's complete vote was 3,046; Hoskins 2875.

Scadden, one of the most widely known and respected residents of this community, held a 257 vote lead over Eben K. Smart in the count of the regular election ballots. He lost ground in the absent vote count but still retained a lead of 197 votes over the Grass Valleyan. The count of the absent votes gave Smart 378, Scadden 319. The total vote for Scadden was 3,004. Smart's vote was 2,807.

Tobiassen and Scadden, as well as other county officers elected at the primary in August will serve for four years.

Scadden, deputy assessor under John Hammill, who is retiring after many years of service for the county, had the endorsement of the present assessor.

Tobiassen was elected for his third term.

There were 963 absent ballots issued by the county clerk's office but many were not voted and some found illegally voted by the supervisors when they opened them for the count. A total of 714 absentee ballots were correctly voted and counted.

AGED G. V. MAN EXPIRES HERE

Thomas John Thomas, 85, for 32 years an employee of the Empire Mine, died in the Miners Hospital here last night after a week's illness.

Thomas was born in Wales, coming to Grass Valley in 1880. He was a member of the Odd Fellows and Foresters Lodges.

Funeral services are pending. His only surviving relative is his widow, Martha Thomas of Grass Valley.

Final rites will be under the direction of the Hooper-Weaver Mortuary in Grass Valley.

NEW TRIAL GRANTED RAY HYMAN GRASS VALLEY BUSINESSMAN

Ray Hyman, Grass Valley business man, who was convicted of petty theft in the Grass Valley Justice Court in connection with the asserted stealing of a stove will have a new trial.

This time the trial will be held in the superior court, as required by law when an appeal from the justice court is made. Judge George L. Jones has set December 2nd as the tenative date for the trial.

The petty theft charge against Hyman was filed by Mrs. Rose Nolan, who accused the Grass Valleyan of taking a stove from the residence she had rented him. Hyman was convicted when the trial was held before Justice of the Peace Charles Morehouse and fined $50. The appeal to the superior court was then taken. Judge Jones heard arguments on the appeal recently and took the case inder advisement. His decision granting a new trial was made Tuesday.

More Nevada County Men Called To Army

The latest group of Nevada Countyans to pass physical examinations for Army service are:

William S. Williamson, Clyde L. Owen, Joseph Tamietti, Ralph R. Bretthauer, Ewald H. Blocke, Bruce G. Leary, William O. Pace, William G. Phillips, William Handy, James W. Davis, James F. Dale, Howard J. Reader, John Rau, Jr., Samuel F. Pena, Leroy B. Hoskin, George S. (Mails) White, Charlie R. Nicholson, Raymond E. Hodge, George M. Willard, Ralph B. Snider, John R. Collier, Edwin F. Parkhurst, Robert L. Michell and Marcus J. MeBeen, Sr.(

The group above and eight others, who failed to pass, received their physical examinations in Sacramento Monday. The successful candidates for the Army were immediately inducted into service and will report to Monterey two weeks hence.

The group will be the last to receive the two weeks furlough after induction. From now on but one week furlough will be given.

Williamson, Nevada City garage owner, was acting corporal in charge of the group Monday. He will be the acting corporal when they leave for Monterey.

Harley M. Leete Accepts Position As Bee Reporter

Tom Arden, for six years Nevada County correspondent of the Sacramento Bee, will leave next week to take up new duties in The Bee office in Sacramento. He has been promoted to a responsible post on the city staff. His family, consisting of his wife, the former Miss Ramona Kitts, and three small children, will remain in Nevada City for several months, but hope to be established in a Sacramento home early next year.

The Bee has apointed Harley M. Leete to fill the post of correspondent made vacant by Arden's transfer to Sacramento. For four years Arden has made the Nugget office his headquarters. While Leete will take over the correspondence duties for The Bee, pictures for Bee illustrations will be provided by Tyler's, photographer of Grass Valley. Arden will leave for his new post next Monday. Those who have communications for The Bee should phone Nevada City 36 during the day or 490 in the evening.

NURSES NEEDED DESPERATELY FOR ARMED FORCES

Between two fateful dates in American history — anniversaries of Peace and War—nurses of the nation are being challenged by a call of duty.

Two thousand nurses from California to serve their country through the Red Cross First Reserve are urgently —desperately—needed between Armistice Day, November 1 and Pearl Harbor Day, December 7.

Miss Martha Brockington, chairman of Nevada County Nursing Council for War Service in a challenging apeal to nurses, said today that these 2,000 nurses "must be enrolled with in this period."

"As great as civilian needs are in these times," Miss Brockington said "the health and welfare of our fighting men are far more important to us all. Nurses must enroll. The job to be done is one which only they can do.

Soldiers of mercy must accompany our soldiers of war around the world.

"The nursing profession and the Red Cross Nursing Service are obliged to ask full cooperation and real sacrifice of the people in Nevada City .

"Before December 7 the Sacramento-Northern California Area must enroll a quota of 31 nurses in the Red Cross First Reserve. Our Army and our Navy have set this figure.

"There are enough nurses to meet their needs," Miss Brockington continued, "and to care for the essential needs of this area. Inactive registered nurses will have to take the places of younger general duty nurses. The private duty nurse, of course, will soon be a thing of the past. except for the reall critically ill patient."

Nurse applicants for enrollment in the Red Cross First Reserve must be between 21 and 40 years of age, single and in good health.

"Meeting the Sacramento-Northern California Areat quota is a cooperative effort between the Nursing Council the R.ed Cross Nursing Service, the employer and the public," Miss Shirley Titus, executive secretary of the California Nursing Council for War Service, declared in a message to Miss Brockington.

Eligible local nurses should contact Miss Martha Brockington of the Nevada County Nursing Council, at 416 Kate Hays Street, Grass Valley or their local Red Cross Chapter.

CLARK RECEIVES SILVER WINGS

Lieutenant George W. Clark of Nevada City was one of a class of four boys to receive silver wings at graduation exercises at Randolph Field, Texas, the past week.

Mrs. Robert Gates and daughter have gone to Happy Camp to be with her husband who is employed at the mine. Their daughters, Mrs. Reg Kennedy and Mrs. Buster Williams and family, will reside in the home place while they are away.

Caught in the Riffles

Joe Sbaffi of Nevada City has been promoted to sergeant with the 367th Engineers in Hawaii.

Bob Paine, in training at St. Petersburg, Fla., forwards a letter he received from Sgt. Sbaffi. In it is news of former Nevada Cityans now in the islands.

"One of the Fisher twins is over here," Sgt. Sbaffi writes,' a machine gunner in the infantry. He'll (censored).

"Remember Pete Eckles of Alleghany? He's situated on a rock somewhere in the Pacific. For company he has one tree and a million birds. I should complain.

"Saw old Pop Campbell, formerly with the Ireland Mine at Alleghany and the Lava Cap in Nevada City. Just arrived, is on the same job as Tom (Hogan). The Nugget said Charles Hoskin came over but haven't seen him. (Hoskin got as far as San Francisco but was rejected because of health). Adrian Torpie took on a tough assignment way down south."

We might mention that Nevada Cityans in the armed forces receiving The Nugget certtainly enjoy it.

While going to the Tahoe National Forest camp at Truckee Monday morning at 5 o'clock from Nevada City Ed Martine and Foreman Joe Phelps had to stop their automobile three times to let seven fawns pass them on the highway just beyond White Cloud. They first encountered one in the middle of the road. Later the others were met in pairs and when they last were sighted a doe was seen on a nearby bank. It seemed strange that these fawns appeared at this time of year as usually they are born in early springtime. The deer have been driven down from the higher mountains on account of snow.

Nevada Cityans will occupy all but one of the county offices for the next four years.

John Nettell is the sole exception. He is a resident of Grass Valley. The official family, outside the members of the board of supervisors follows:

George L. Jones, superior judge.

R. N. McCormack, county clerk.

Elma Hecker, treasurer and tax collector.

Carl J. Tobiassen, sheriff.

Phil G. Scadden, assessor.

Walter Carlson, county superintendent of schools.

Ward Sheldon, district attorney.

And of course, John Nettell of Grass Valley, recorder.

An unusual event occurred in Nevada City Monday when Mrs. Nance James, mother of three stalwart sons in the armed forces, received a letter from each one although they are in different camps. Bill James, the oldest is in Texas in the medical corps; Robert, in "boot camp" in the marine base at San Diego and Dick, youngest and last to go in is in army training at Monterey. The boys write their mother they are all getting along nicely and like their work.

SCORE: 0 TO 0, TOMMY BARRY SUFFERS INJURY

Tommy Barry, Nevada City High School football player injured in the annual Armistice Day battle between the local and Grass Valley High Schools, was "resting easily" at the Miners Hospital here today with the likelihood he will be able to leave the hospital tonight.

Barry was hurt on a line play. He was revived but later lapsed into unconsciousness again and was taken to the Miners Hospital. He regained consciousness one half hour after his arrival at the hospital.

The football game ended in a scoreless tie. Nevada City held an edge on the Miners throughout but lacked the punch to push over a touchdown.

The contest was marked by constant injuries to players on both sides but Barry was the only player to suffer hurts of any consequence.

DREADNAUGHT OF THE SKIES

What would happen if American fliers had a fleet of bombers that could fly a mile higher than the biggest anti-aircraft in Germany can shoot?

Bombers so huge that 150 of them could carry a greater power of destruction than 1200 of Britain's bombers carried on the biggest raid of the year over Germany? Bombers of such carrving power that the load of one of them would demolish all buildings in an area of eight city blocks?

Bombers that could fly from England to Berlin in 80 minutes?

Bombers with coordinated turrets, like those of battleships. so that a dozen cannon and machine guns could loose an obliterating torrent of lead at an attacker in a single burst?

The question mark may be crossed out! Just such battleships of the air are going to fly over Germany and deal their inconceivable blows in 1943. They are beyond the blueprint stage. Details of design are military secrets—but this much information about them is official, permitted in print by military authorities.

If total victory by air attack is possible, if the Nazi armies. no matter how far they spread in conquest, can be left with no cities and factories to which they may return—then the air force of the United States, where the dive bomber and long-range bomber and instrument flying were conceived, is the air force to do the job.

A ROSE ON LINCOLN'S GRAVE

Whether or not Joe Louis will ever fight again in the ring is a matter, to judge by the sports sections of most metropolitan papers, much discussed in the world of boxing fans. Louis himself has intimated that he feels he has passed his prime, and probably, if the war lasts two or more years longer, will retire without boxing again.

It is to be hoped, if Louis is "slipping" that he will stick by his decision, and not allow himself to be dragged into the ring for the enrichment of promoters, nor to provide a Roman holiday for fans of the moronic kind who can enjoy seeing a once-great champion, his speed and stamina gone, "go down fighting" at the hands of some second-rater.

Louis won far more than money and a championship—won far more for millions of people than he won for himself. He won for the boxing game a standard of sportsmanship far higher than it has known in the reign of any other modern champion, white or black. He never "carried" an opponent—as did Dempsey. He never picked on soft touches—as did Tunney. He never complained when decisions went against him—as did Jack Sharkey and Schmeling. By fighting, as he said he fought, to "reflect credit on my people; to fight so that the next colored boy coming up the ladder will get the same breaks I got" Louis has done more good in promoting inter-racial tolerance and mutual respect than any man of his color since Booker T. Washington.

He need'nt ever fight again. He has won the great fight he set out to win. That's what Jimmy Walker, New York's ex-mayor, meant when he said: "Joe Louis has laid a rose on Abe Lincoln's grave."

70 DRUM PGE EMPLOYEES IN ARMED FORCES

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company's local office is displaying proudly its service flag in honor of the company's employees who are in the country's armed service. Report on November 5th shows a total enrollment in the various military branches of 1,558 men, or more than 11 per cent of the total P. G. and E. personnel. Enlistments from the Drum Division number 70.

More men are being called to the service every day, according to P. M. Downing, vice president and general manager. Several thousand who would be subject to the draft have been given occupational deferment, as the maintenance of adequate gas and electric supply is essential to production of ships, oil, gasoline, food supplies and other war necessities.

Nearly 5,000 P. G. and E. employes both men and women, are signed up in various Civilian Defense activities.

TRI COUNTY CHROME ASSOCIATION PLANS DOUBLE MEETING

Tri-County Chrome Association, in order to save gas, tires and time, plans a double meeting for November 19th, a dinner gathering at Placerville from 5 to 7 p. m. and a night meeting in Jackson as the guests of the Amador County Strategic Mineral Survey committee, headed by Louis Spinnetti ,business man of the Amador county seat. L. W. Loomis, El Dorado vice president of the organization, is now completing arrangements for the Placerville gathering.

Pres. J. P. Hall of the group reports having received a reply from the U. S. Geological Survey in reference to the request of the association for a geophysical survey of the Garden Valley, El Dorado County, and Forest Hill, Placer County, districts. Director W. C. Mendenhall writes that to date such surveys for chromite are not satisfactory, but that his department will have an engineering party in both fields this winter when they will confer with association members and operators on aid they can give in both areas.

Hall also reports that the WPB has turned down the association' request to have the present price of chrome and manganese applied f. o. b. the mine instead of at the stock pile. holding that it would be too much of a subsidy to the industry. In reference to another request to give graduated reductions in prices when ores fail to make certain grades instead of a complete drop to the next lower grade, Olaf N. Rove, assistant branch chief, writes that in a restudy of chrome and manganese prices and specifications, now in progress, this change will be given consideration.

EMPIRE-STAR MINES INTERESTED IN COPPER PROPERTIES IN SHASTA

Empire-Star Mines of Grass Valley, subsidiary of the Newmont Corporation, has been during the past several months acquiring extensive copper holdings in Shasta County, former location of California's leading copper production.

The location and discovery work required is being done by a crew of men under the supervision of Mike Maguire, well known mining man of Grass Valley.

In former years Shasta was the location of a number of large copper smelters when that area enjoyed its biggest boom in mining. However, as large corporations took advantage of low wages and other easy work conditions in foreign countries the copper mines of Shasta assumed less importance. Then the final blow to a thriving industry came when so-called conservationists objected to a small amount of vegetation and a few trees that dotted the heavily mineralized area being killed by the smelter fumes. They were able by court action to close down the smelters.

The Newmont also has a big copper operation, 8 miles north of Happy Camp, Siskiyou County, now making preparation to handle 600 tons of ore per day by January 1. The ore will be concentrated approximately 5 to 1 and shipped to a Tacoma smelter.

NEWS IN RHYME

By Harley M. Leete, Jr.

Now that Warren's in and Olson's out,
And the vote has settled political doubt,
We'll concentrate on the work of war,
But before we do, let' scan once more,
The deepest meaning of these elections,
As interpreted from several directions.
You see, we sort of take them for granted,
Like a beautiful tree which was long ago planted.
We admire its strength and eat its fruit,
But rarely think of the powerful root.
That digs far down beneath the ground—
That's where it's real power's found!
The vote is like that, too, you see,
As commonplace as a thing can be,
Yet that's where free people's power lies,
And without the vote it surely dies.
The vote is the roots of our splendid land,
The priceless treasure our founders planned.
Elections here bring an Axis sneer;
They abhor the vote and rule by Fear.
And the simple Axis slaves—misled,
In lieu of God, trust Fuehrer instead.
They quail at Hitler's vocal thunder.
And before our vote would simply wonder.
They've sunk so low it would be most hard,
To make clear to them how we regard,
The privilege and honor we have to rule,
Ourselves without minding some arrogant fool.
The Huns call themselves a superior race,
To whom all else are weak-willed—base.
And yet they live and die like slaves,
Stupid as half-men who first lived in caves.
They've crowned their cruel king with a crown of mud—
Utterly ugly and covered with blood.
Well, here in this land, we have the vote—
We all have a say in the course of our boat.
It isn't a government of speed,
But somehow it's always fulfilled our need.
And every man can his wishes speak,
Whether he be great, or small and weak,
We free folk of the world are truly kings—
As long as the bell of liberty rings!

Two masses will be celebrated Sunday at the St. Canice Catholic Church. The first mass will be at 8 a. m. and the second at 10:30 a. m. Father Patrick O'Reilly will conduct the masses.

'FINAL DEATH' TAKES CHARLES P. LUSHBAUGH

Charles Phillip Lushbaugh, 42, proprietor of the Domestic Gas firm at Town Talk, lived for three days after his death was reported from the veterans hospital in San Francisco where he had been confined.

But death came permanently to the well known Nevada County man late Tuesday night.

The funeral rites will be held at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Halstead and Company Funeral Chapel at 1123 Sutter Street in San Francisco. Many local friends of Lushbaugh plan to attend the funeral.

Mrs. Maxine Craddock of the National Hotel, daughter of Lushbaugh, was notified her father died early Sunday morning. When she arrived in San Francisco prepared to make arrangements for the funeral she learned a faint spark of life had been noted in Lushbaugh's body after he had first been pronounced dead and he was revived in an oxygen tent. He lived until 10 p. m. Tuesday. The Nugget received notice of Lushbaugh's "first death" and printed an obituary Monday. Word of his revival came after The Nugget had gone to press.

At his bedside when at last death came were his wife, Marjorie Lushbaugh, his daughter and his mother, Mrs. Charles Lushbaugh of Dinuba.

Lushbaugh was a member of the Nevada City Rotary Club. Masonic Lodge and American Legion. He came to Nevada County three years ago but during that comparatively short time he made hundreds of friends in the communities of Nevada City and Grass Valley.

NEVADA CITY PARTICIPATES IN ARMISTICE FETE

Nevada City was well represented in the Armistice Day parade held in Grass Valley yesterday morning.

Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen's Mounted Posse was in the line of march and one of the most attractive and impressive features of the parade was the colorful Nevada City High School band, led by Noami Smithson and her corps of majorettes.

Miss Betty Presley sang God Bless America at the program held in the Veterans Memorial Building following the parade. Mrs. Ann Hathaway sang the Star Spangled Banner.

Major Vernon Snively of the Camp Beale staff was the Armistice speaker. The theme of his talk was the war of 1942 and he stated after this war is won America should not go to sleep again and another World War take place in 1966. Major Snively said had the United States prepared itself after World War I the present conflict would never have taken place.

A dance last night brought the Armistice observance to a close. The Hague-Thomas-Hegarty Post of the American Legion annual dinner was held previous to the dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Browning entertained Saturday in honor of the first birthday of their daughter on Saturday evening. Many relatives were present for the evening. Four generations were represented at the gathering.

NETTIE EWING OF THIS CITY DIES IN OAKLAND

Word was received in Nevada City Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myers that Mrs. Nettie Ewing had passed away in Oakland. She is the wife of Robert Ewing.

Mrs. Ewing had been an invalid for six years and a great sufferer, rheumatism making her practically helpless. Her great determination to live had kept her always in the belie that she would recover. Through out her life she had extended a hand to many others in distress and done many kindly deeds for those about her. They own mining property on Mt. Oro where she enjoyed staying.

The last severe and fatal illness was brought on by a broken leg, suffered when she fell from her bed ten days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewing have resided in this area twenty five years and have a wide circle of friends who will be sorry to learn of her passing. She is a member of the local Rebecca Lodge. She is survived by her husband, a son and daughter and several nieces and nephews.

Smoking and Camp Fire Restrictions On Tahoe Forest Officially Lifted

Forest Supervisor Guerdon Ellis of the Tahoe national forest states that smoking and camp fire restrictions have been officially lifted on the Tahoe forest as of November 2nd.

Debris burning permits are required until December 1 by state law. These permits are issued by the federal forest rangers inside the national forest and by state forest rangers for the territory outside. The 1942 fire season has been the lightest in the lightest in the history of the Tahoe forest. The traveling public has in general been extremely careful in the use of fire. Fire proofing of rights of way has done much to reduce railroad fires. Except for some carelessness around Lake Tahoe during the first part of the season, smokers have taken warnings seriously and have been careful with matches and tobacco.

The experience of past years has pointed out the necessity of fire hazard cleanup around buildings both to safeguard the buildings from forest and brush fires and to reduce the danger of house fires spreading to adjacent forest and range lands.

Ellis urges the disposal of trash and debris this winter so that the 1943 fire season will find everyone prepared.

FOREST SERVICE NOTES

H. Birkenbine of the regional office of the USFS has returned to the Tahoe national forest for the winter on detail. He will inspect and supervise general maintenance of the 150 bridges on the Tahoe forest. He will also supervise the maintenance of the White Cloud and Forest Hill water systems. Birkenbine was on the Tahoe forest from June 1940 to Januar 1942. The first year a bridge engineer, he supervised the construction of nineteen bridges and the Sierra Buttes lookout building. During 1941 he was assistant to forest ranger, G. E. Mitchell.

A. P. Dean, regional engineer for the USFS and his assistant in charge of bridge designing, John R. Lawrence inspected the road maintenance work on the Tahoe national forest. They complimented Forest Engineer Mitchell on the work done this summer maintaining the forest roads and bridges. R. E. Lane, an assistant regional engineer, was also on the forest in connection with the start of the Heether Access road betterment job.

Work is commencing on surfacing and drainage of the Heether Mill road north of Camptonville. Forest Engineer Mitchell of the Tahoe national forest states that Mervin Wells of the Sequoia Forest has been detailed to supervise the work and will have a crew of 35 men. He will operate two shifts, as it is desired to complete the road before winter weather makes such work impracticable. When this road is put into condition it will be available for use in wet weather and will enable the mill to operate during the winter.

This access road is one of many planned to make it possible for lumbermen and miner to keep up production during the winter months. During the progress of this work the road will be closed to public use except that vehicles may follow the school bus through in the morning and afternoon and may use the road during the period from 1 a. m. to seven a. m. each morning.

On the Seven Seas

For 45 years General Electric has developed and built electric equipment for warships. Here are a few of the ways in which electricity serves the Navy.

1. Just one battleship may have electric generators to produce as much as 180,000 kilowatts. This power would supply the needs of a city of 375,000.

2. Searchlights produce millions of candlepower of light to aid in detecting enemy ships and planes, and to guide Navy gunners to their targets.

3. More than 20 different operations are performed in bringing a naval gun to bear on its target. Electricity helps to co-ordinate these operations.

4. When a battleship goes into action, electricity helps direct the ship, operate the guns, and give the orders. G.E. is building equipment to do these jobs.

General Electric believes that its first duty as a good citizen is to be a good soldier.

Yellowjacket Gold Mine Co. Purchases Alleghany Red Star

The San Francisco office of the Tightner Mines Co. reports that its Red Star Mine at Alleghany, Sierra County, is now under lease to Yellow Jacket Consolidated Gold Mines, Ltd., owners of the adjoining Yellow Jacket and Osceola Mines.

Tightner Mines Co., was incorporated in 1911 to acquire and operate the Tightner Mine, which because of its high grade ore had attracted considerable attention to the Alleghany district. At that time the adjoining Red Star property was included with the Tightner group.

Prior to 1900 drift mining operations exploited rich gravels of ancient buried rivers in these properties. In 1905 H. L. Johnson of Alleghany, reopened the old gravel workings in the Tightner and in the Red Star and was rewarded by discoveries of high grade quartz in both properties. Red Star operations were carried on through the old gravel tunnel and ceased with high grade ore in sight, when this tunnel caved in 1911. In the meantime Johnson had driven a new crosscut at the south end of the Tightner group to intersect the vein at greater depth and conducted highly profitable operations until disposing of the property to the Tightner. This company erected a 20 stamp mill and other improvements and undertook aggressive development through the Johnson tunnel. High grade ore was encountered and mined in this southerly portion of the mine and development was extended northward toward the Red Star ore chutes. Because of war conditions operations were suspended in 1917.

In 1919 the mine was reopened by the Alleghany Mining Co. under a lease with option to purchase. Their operations were conducted principally in the Tightner group to the south. In 1924 after having paid substantial royalties, and for an additional cash consideration, they obtained title to these southernmost claims, on the Tightner vein, and resold them to the adjoining Ariginal 16 to 1 Mine, Inc.

The Red Star, comprising 140 acres of patented ground, was retained and is still owned by the Tightner. It covers the northerly extension of the Tightner and Osceola veins and is virgin ground. The surface is lava capped and the veins are buried to a depth of 600 feet.

The Osceola and Yellow Jacket properties are completely equipped for mining and milling. The main Osceola tunnel follows the Osceola vein into Red Star ground 500 feet below the bed rock. These workings provide an effective and economical means of exploring the Red Star ground. Under prevailing conditions continued deep development in the Yellow Jacket-Osceola property is impossible but with the materials and supplies on hand or obtainable, a small crew can accomplish valuable development on the present level of the Osceola workings. Work will start as soon as the war is over.

The office of Yellow Jacket Consolidated Gold Mines, Ltd., is Room 522 Security Building, Los Angeles, Charles E. Trezona, is managing director and Charles J. Ayres is superintendent at the property.

The office of the Tightner Mines Company is Room 600, 74 New Montgomery Street, San Francisco. Its officers are: Robert E. McCullough, president, W. T. Jenkins, vice president, Carlo S. Morbio, secretary, and Edwin L. Oliver, treasurer.

SCOUTS HOLD FIRST MEETING

Nevada City Scout Troop No. 24 held it's first regular meeting of the year at the Scout Lodge last night. The troop which is sponsored by the Rotary Club shows promise of being an asset to the community if the interest shown by the boys at the first meeting is any barometer. Training classes in tender foot tests were held under the direction of Scouts James Lanuius, Leo Willey, Lew Pingree and Stanley Bates. The entire troop were also given the fundamentals of group marching so that they might participate in civic celebrations as representative of Nevada City.

As part of the regular meeting and scout training James Launius, Scout 2d class, made a five minute talk to the group on scouting.

MINER KILLED IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

H. E. (Bert) Riley, about 30, former Forest City miner, died in the Miners Hospital here today from injuries suffered when his automobile left the North San Juan Highway a short distance this side of that community on November 5th and crashed into a pile of rocks.

Riley was brought to the hospital here by Sheriff Dewey Johnson of Sierra County, who happened by shortly after the accident. Riley was enroute to Goodyear Bar to visit his sister, Mrs. Earl Higgins and his aged mother.

Captain Joseph Blake of the California Highway Patrol is conducting an investigation.

The body of Riley is at the Holmes Funeral Home here.

THANKS TO VOTERS

I wish to thank the people of Nevada County for electing me to the office of County Assessor. I feel that a great trust has been reposed in me and I shall endeavor to the best of my ability to discharge the duties of the office in fairness to all taxpayers of the county.

PHIL G. SCADDEN.

SIERRANS HOPE TO KEEP MOUNTAIN MESSENGER ALIVE

Plans for continuing the publication of the Mountain Messenger, said to be the second oldest weekly newspaper in California, are being developed by the stockholders.

Started in LaPorte, then in Sierra County, in the early 1850's, the Mountain Messenger was moved to Downieville in the 1860's, and until the last decade enjoyed comparatively wide circulation and prosperity. The paper was disposed of by the late Harry S. Tibbey and three other stockholders to the present ownership about 1930.

Since 1930 the paper has been edited briefly by M. T. Ayres, Carl D. Ross of Nevada City, Sam Hill of Brentwood and Victor Cassidy of Auburn. Cassidy turned the paper back to the stockholders last week. Due to its great age and sentimental appeal a strong effort is being made to perpetuate the old newspaper, which is now in its eighty eighth year.

NOTICE

Having enlisted and been accepted by the U. S. Army I am obliged to close my business, the SERVICE GARAGE, Corner Pine and Spring Streets, Nevada City and I'd appreciate it if all those who are indebted to me would call around and settle their accounts before November 19, 1942, when I will close my doors.

I have taken this occasion to thank all my friends and patrons for their loyal support and cooperation which helped to make my business a success.
